ARMY WILL BUILD HALL HERE

And a Whirlwind Campaign To Raise Necessary Funds Will Be Launched Throughout The Pass — The Public Should Rally to the Support Of This Enterprise.

The plans of the Salvation Army to erect a combined hall and officers' residence in Coleman are now assuming definite shape. The blue-prints are about completed, the building site is, we understand, under option, and a whirlwind campaign to raise the $1,500 required will be launched in a few days.

The new building is to be erected just south of Burns' butcher shop, and the dimensions will be in the neighborhood of 24x50 feet, two storeys high. On the ground floor there will be a large public meeting hall, with a smaller committee room at the rear. On the first floor there will be four living rooms of convenient size, bath room, pantry, etc.

Nothing elaborate in architecture will be attempted, but it is the desire of the local corps to erect a building that will meet their requirements for public meetings, etc., and also provide adequate living quarters for the officers.

As above stated, $1,500 is required to erect the building and pay for the lot, and a personal canvass is to be made of every business place and residence in The Pass for financial assistance. Major Hay, of Edmonton, and Adjutant Byranton, of Calgary, will assist the local officers in this work, and a generous response from the citizens is asked for.

The Salvation Army have now been established in the Crow's Nest Pass for nearly two years. Up to the present they have conducted their meetings at Coleman (which is their headquarters) in the old Pacific hotel building, it being given for the purpose rent free through the kindness of Mr. Trelle. But intimation has been given that new quarters must be obtained as the building has been rented.

The Army officers are therefore in a dilemma regarding a suitable building. There have been many suggestions from all sources as to the best procedure to follow, and after taking into consideration the many problems that confront them, it has been decided to launch a scheme for a new building as outlined in the foregoing paragraphs.

This decision has not been arrived at hastily, but only after consultation and discussion with many of the leading business men of The Pass, who freely admit that since The Army was established here they have accomplished much and are really doing good and necessary work. Many instances might be mentioned in which they have performed exacting service for the sick or needy, regardless of creed or character. Indeed, it is quite the ordinary practice, when any particularly exacting charitable work has to be done, for the civic or medical authorities to "see The Army boys about it."

And there is not a case on record where they have failed to respond with alacrity.

That their work is appreciated is amply demonstrated by the cordial receptions with which the leaders have been greeted on the occasion of their visits to Coleman.

Although the army made its advent at a very critical time as far as Coleman was concerned, the mines at the time working in a very spasmodic manner, the local officers have been able nevertheless to remove all liability incurred in commencing their work, and to meet all running expenses as well. This speaks much for the strict economy that has been practised.

The Army has a modern method of book-keeping. A record is kept of all work done and of every cent collected for any purpose. These records are kept for the guidance of headquarters and are open for inspection at any time by any of the townspeople.

From whatever view point their activities may be regarded it must be admitted that the Salvation Army is an acquisition to The Pass and performs a necessary work throughout the district.

There should therefore be a ready assistance given to their building enterprise and their campaign for funds which is to be launched in a few days.

Who will be the first ten men in The Pass to come along with a $25 donation each?

ALMA, WHERE DO YOU LIVE?

Germans Get One More Local Man

Another Hun Bullet Finds a Billet in a Coleman Home—Private Johnston Wounded.

A brief message received on Tuesday afternoon by John Johnston, of the Eagle restaurant, conveyed to him the information that his son, Pte. Albert Johnston, had been wounded "somewhere in France" and that he had been admitted to the military hospital at Hamstead on September 14th.

Private Johnston first enlisted with a Pincher Creek battalion, but later transferred to a Calgary unit. After the usual period of training at that place he went overseas with his batalion. Subsequent to his arrival in the Old Country he was drafted to the same battalion to which Privates Price and Gregory belonged, and is therefore the fourth Coleman man to fall a victim to Hun bullets while serving with that unit—as Pte. McLean was also a member of the same battalion.

Private Johnston's injury consists of a gunshot wound in the shoulder, but the message did not contain any further information as to his condition.

Want Damages

A while ago a western advertising agency offered The Bulletin a 500 inch advertising contract at 25c per inch, but, though they gave us the name of their clients, they neglected (?) to state the nature of their business—and in our tremendous excitement over the prospect of seeing so much real money all in a heap, we entirely overlooked their little omission.

The proffered contract was accepted by us, and in due time we received their copy—a beautiful bunch of mail order booze dope. Not caring to open our columns to that class of advertising, the copy was returned, with regrets. (And you can bet those regrets were abso-goddam-nutely sincere.)

Now the advertising agency is threatening all sorts of dire and dreadful things if we do not honor our contract, the mildest of which is a suit for rather hefty damages. But we don't bluff worth a cent. If this outfit wants to start anything they have our permission (in the language of the country) to hop to it. We'll honor that contract along about the time arrangements are completed for the first hockey match in hades.

A Literary Society was recently formed in connection with the Institutional church, with Mrs. McKeagan, Mrs. Allan, and Messrs. Cameron, Lees and Holmes as provisional convenors. The first meeting will be held in the club room on Tuesday evening next, September 26th, and will take the form of a social evening, with light refreshments. Permanent officers will also be elected at this meeting. All interested are invited to be present.

In registering their belated kick against the new American eight hour law, the railway operators point out that the threatened strike would have affected "only 18 per cent. of the employees of the railways of the United States."

Agreed unanimously.

But that same little old 18 per cent. had both the railway operators and President Woodrow Wilson jumping sideways for a week or two. The complaint of the operators in this case is a mighty strong argument in favor of unionism.

The harvest festival services of the Salvation Army on Sunday and Monday were very well attended. The hall was also filled to the doors on Monday evening, when a most successful ice cream social was held. The ice cream for the occasion was made up Mrs. Easton, and was of a very excellent quality.

On October 1st the rate at the Coleman hotel will be raised to $35 a month for the winter months, but those who arrange for board previous to that date will be given the benefit of the present low rate ($30 a month) all winter. Anyone thinking of making a change should do it now.

On Wednesday evening next, September 27th, at 7.30 o'clock, a public meeting will be held in the Salvation Army hall, when Major Hay, assisted by Adjutant Byranton, of Calgary, will deliver an address. It is hoped that a good attendance will welcome the major, as he will report the progress of the building scheme.

GERMANY KEEPS UP THE WAR BY DECEIVING THE POPULACE

TRYING TO KEEP THE PEOPLE IN IGNORANCE

Canucks Receive 39,000 The speech of Dr. Karl Liebknecht

Parcels From Home

Canadian Red Cross Has Been Working Hard to Comfort Men

Nearly 40,000 parcels have been sent to date by the Canadian Red Cross to comfort Canadian soldiers in the various hospitals. The contents of the parcels were not chosen at random, but were according to each man's request.

A recent list includes newspapers, toilet articles, mirrors, pipes, tobacco, socks, handkerchiefs, toothbrushes, books, sweaters, khaki shirts, underwear, flowers, mouth organs, playing cards, and even a few bottles of whisky.

"Comfort bars," as these parcels are

German Socialist leader, made in Berlin on May 1, in which he made reference to the attack on the Canadian Red Cross, was sharply rebuffed by his arrest, a dispatch said. Dr. Lehnhecht is to be deprived by court martial of his high rank.

A copy of the speech, uncensored, reached New York by mail and is in part as follows:

"Some years ago a witty Socialist has observed that in Prussia we Germans have three great rights, which are: the right to vote, to pay taxes, and we can keep our mouths shut. In these days this observation has become a reality. We have these three great Prussian State privileges in full. Every German citizen has the right to vote, to pay taxes, and to carry a rifle in any manner. Even the have become knoth, have achieved such fame among the soldiers as to be known in an encircling command. Most of the times they went out on some generous measure from the Red Cross branches in Canada. Other times they were sent to the front where comes here as thanks offering or marked especially to be devoted to provision of comforts. This takes no account of the huge quantities of papers sent to Canadian troops, which are forwarded with unshinited liberality to all parts of Canada. There is just now, however, a shortage of papers from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Kingston.

As has just come in from some men against a present of chewing gum which they found, although it was not in Canada, had been made in Germany.

Boy Scout has been incited to play the ridiculous role of soldier. They are to be sent to the front in the deep in his youthful soul. Meanwhile the old landsturm is forced to perform the same labor in invaded countries in spite of the fact that the laws of the imperial constitution he cannot be called out for any other reason than for the defence of the fatherland.

"As for the second privilege—the right to pay taxes—in this respect the German soldier is not in the least different from his brother in the front, far ahead of his brothers in foreign lands whom he is engaged to defend. And yet more important privileges of this kind are granted him in the days to come—after the end of the war. The high taxes which the German people are now so far paid are insignificant compared of it and now give the real Canadian citizen.

Publishers and Prices

Cost of Paper and Material Makes Higher Prices Necessary

Although everyone is ready to admit that the cost of living has materially increased, and that it has increased twenty years, some publishers complain that many of their subscribers cannot understand why their prices should be increased and business men are asking why prices of job work have increased.

The present critical condition in the paper market and the increase in the cost of paper and material are the main reasons for the increase in prices.

The new Germany has the unquestionable right to maul halter nations. The German press, the official press, has been flooded by authoritative and pharisaic exhortations to the effect that they must, for God's sake, keep their mouths shut about the scarcity of food. Keep your mouth shut when hungry, keep your mouth shut when you are hungry, keep your mouth shut when your children want milk, keep your mouth shut when you are very for bread, keep your mouth shut

One day last week a man came to open an account with me. He offered the price to be $150. He said, "I have never paid more than a dollar for a copy of this paper. I can go without." We did. About the same time a business man called to tell me that the price of the paper had increased. He said, "I would make the difference of about ten per cent." "Don't want it," he said. "I can go without." "I'll pick it up." He had to have the paper, and paid over a dollar extra to get it from me.

of the week we ordered a special color of ink that last fall was priced at $3.00 a pound. It costs us now $4.50 a pound. We bought a lot of special ink for the Christmas cards. The ink now goes for $7.50 per hundred pounds. Now we pay $10.00 per hundred pounds. Letter paper, envelopes and printer's stock have increased from twenty to thirty-five per cent. Prices for the printing of the cards have increased, and our quantities are higher.

price made by the merchant, the lawyer, the doctor, and the laoring man. But the fact that the printer of a newspaper asks twenty-five cents a year more, or ten per cent. advance in work in which the material alone is is increased one-third or one-half, is called a "hold up." "If you make a fair profit on your work, my wear out your machinery and material besides trying to get you to work for me," says the fishing will soon be good. If the other fellow take the work if there is no work to be done, and if there is later he will be out of the field of competition unless he sees the error of his ways.—Exchange.

Great Prosperity in Archangel.
Advice received from Archangel tell of the most prosperous time in the history of that Russian city.

Since the beginning of the war extensive work has been done in the harbor and on this work hundreds of workmen were employed. The piers and wharves are crowded with ammunition supplies, food supplies, building material, lumber, etc., and every available space on the wharves has been employed to handle it.

From 40,000 inhabitants which the city had before the war, it has grown over a hundred thousand. The coffee houses, concert halls, restaurants and night clubs are all open from day till night, and everywhere there is a thriving business. The greatest interest in the city is in the workmen to do all the work. For example, workmen turn rubles a day are offered for a full worked day are twenty rubles a day. Only a few days ago

By the the German workmen were being paid 10 rubles a day. They lie they expect to induce him to work on with the war.

There had scarcely finished this last sentence when as if by magic a sudden excitement broke out. The workmen were shouting and their friends had been standing the crowd surged back and forth. The great number of the palace guards who were the appearance of some of the whose surface was every inch covered with human ears, those of men at work.

Several thousand thousand panicked souls are rushing toward the palace grounds. The scene is frightful. Everyone is shouting and crying. The crowd is a mass of black black chips in their hand lashed the crowds. Many were killed.

The Colonel's Biblical Reason.
Colonel Roosevelt said in a recent interview in Oyster Bay:

"The best reason I could give is be ready for war. Not the too-pronounced, but the untrained-to-fight soldiers who are going without being molested."

"Can you tell me the reason why Daniel was so successful?" the preacher once asked his little son.

"No, sir. Why was it said that he was?"

"Because," explained the preacher, prices have increased beyond the record mark. For a considerable time the inhabitants lived on bread, barley and broad; sugar and coffee were dispensed with.

Charity or Charity Mantles?

The lady was making comments on the dress worn by some other ladies at church.

"The finest garment I ever saw," she said, "was the mantle of charity."

"That," he snapped, "and it is the only dress that our husbands wear their wives to wear, judging by the hue they make over the bills."

"The most of him was backbone, as the rest was grit."

How They Will Go

At a luncheon of prominent munition manufacturers the speaker announced that his company had just closed a contract for 5,000,000 shells to be delivered in Germany.

"And how many others?" asked another.

"Such a statement, and somebody is bound to ask me!"

"How are you going to get them in?"

"The French are going to get them in," was the answer.—Loud Opinion

Editorial Comment

R. L. NORMAN, Editor and Publisher

JUDAS

"Buy at Home" is the caption of what is presumably intended for an editorial in the last issue of the Blairmore Enterprise, while right alongside the article appears a large advertisement of a Winnipeg catalogue house. Having accepted the money of the departmental store (or having agreed to do so) the editor thus calmly proceeds to give them the double cross, and directs his well known propensity for knocking towards the establishment that buys his advertising space.

But that is not all.

The other side of the case is still more contemptible. While the Enterprise attempts to save its face with the home merchants by urging its readers to buy at home, the pseudo editor sells advertising space to the mail order house for less than half what he charges his local merchants. The mail order house referred to offers its advertising contracts to scores of western newspapers every year, but in nearly all cases they are rejected simply because the departmental store people want advertising space for practically nothing. And it is rather significant that out of a total of over forty rural newspapers on our exchange list, the Blairmore sheet is the only one in which the advertisement of the catalogue house appears.

"Let us be loyal to our home town," says the Enterprise, but it was "loyalty" such as our contemporary practises that made Judas Iscariot famous.

TWAS EVER THUS

For months back the joint publicity bureau of the American railroads has been sending out reams of circulars and pamphlets explaining just why it would be impossible for them to accede to the demands of their employees for an eight hour day and higher wages. Among other things we have been told that the strike, if it had taken place, would have represented only 18 per cent. of the railway employees of the United States; that it would have thrown out of employment 1,400,000 other railway employees, and 32,000,000 workers in other lines dependent upon the railways for their prosperity. And the railways claim there will have to be a substantial increase in traffic rates to meet the increase in the pay roll.

All of which demonstrates very clearly that the American railway magnate, while he may be a wizard at financing, is not unwilling to stoop to subterfuge when it becomes necessary for them to square themselves with public opinion.

It may be quite true that the above-described multitude would have been affected by the action of a paltry 18 per cent. of the railway employees, but it is equally true that the other 82 per cent. will now benefit by the courageous action of the lesser number, who had sufficient back-bone to get together and organize.

'Twas ever thus.

The union man pays the dues and the assessments—pays the cost of the fight—and also does all the fighting, and in the end, when victory has been won, the non-union man, who has never batted an eye-lash or moved a finger to help in the struggle, steps up to the cashier's window and gets the raise in wages just the same as the union man. In its reference to the unrepresented 82 per cent., the solicitude of the railway operators is amusing.

As to the necessity of a raise in traffic rates, probably if there had not been an election pending President Wilson might have suggested to the railway people that they squeeze some of the water out of their stock. The interest charges that could thus be saved would enable the transportation companies to deal quite liberally with their employees in the matter of wages.

WELCOME BACK

The Calgary Eye Opener's story to the effect that R. B. Bennett is to take over the leadership of the Conservative party in Alberta provincial politics, dropping out of Dominion affairs to do so, is causing no end of speculation among the wise ones as to what would likely be the reason for such a change.

The rumor reminds the writer of the story of the ambitious lady, who, though considered among the upper four hundred in her own town, was nevertheless dissatisfied and felt that she could attain loftier social heights in the city. The change was made, but in a few months the lady returned again to her native town, her success in the social realms of the city seeming to have been of a rather indifferent sort. On being questioned as to why she had left the city she sweetly replied:

"Because I would rather be a queen among asses than an ass among queens."

Welcome back, R. B.

THOSE BOOZE ADVTs.

The Bulletin, like many other Alberta newspapers, just now is being offered large advertising contracts by liquor houses outside the Province that are desirous of building up a mail order booze trade. Possibly because this paper opposed the Alberta Liquor Act in the recent campaign we are being offered more of this business than other newspapers, for the sum total of the space asked for in the last six weeks is decidedly attractive when regarded from the financial viewpoint.

But, while we could make very good use of the money, we do not want this business and will not print any booze adverts. In these columns.

It is true that we were opposed to the adoption of the Liquor Act; but since the large majority of the people of Alberta endorsed it, we feel that we would be mighty small potatoes if we became a party to any transaction that would be likely to hamper or hinder the Act in its avowed intention to make Alberta dry. While the campaign was on we felt quite justified in opposing it, but since it has become law we hope we are big enough and sufficiently broad-minded to fall in with the majority.

Instead of placing any obstacle in the way of the successful operation of the Liquor Act, The Bulletin considers it the duty of every decent citizen to give the authorities every assistance they can in their effort to enforce the measure.

WHEEL WITHIN WHEEL

H. H. Dewart, who recently carried South-west Toronto for the Liberals in a provincial bye election, is the son of a Methodist clergyman, and a very good lawyer—as lawyers go. He figured in the examination of the Kelly crowd at Winnipeg, and was one of the lawyers acting for the Liberals in connection with the Kite charges.

His father at one time was editor of the Christian Guardian, and in those days Herbert Hartley read every line of that publication—even the editorials—or wore red on the comfortable part of his anatomy for quite a while. His early training in that respect, however, seems to have been more or less futile, or else he has digressed somewhat in the matter of reading material, for in the recent election he gave the question of prohibition the marble heart and icy stare.

Mr. Dewart also was a student at Jarvis street Collegiate in Toronto when Sam Hughes was teacher of English and history there and the relations between instructor and student never were very cordial. This circumstance possibly explains why the presence of Dewart at the hearing of the Kite charges acted on Sir Sam like a red rag on an angry bull.

Thus do wheels turn within wheels.

A POOR INVENTION

In the recent provincial elections in Nova Scotia 30 Liberals and 13 Conservatives were elected. This looks like a most emphatic pronouncement on the part of the electors.

But let's take another look. Altogether 91,614 votes were polled, and of these 46,541 were Liberal and 45,073 Conservative. Thus, while the Liberals elected a majority of 17 to the House, they only polled 1,468 more votes than the Conservatives did throughout the province.

In other words, 50.5 per cent. of the vote elected 30 Liberals, while a fraction over 49 per cent. of the vote elected only 13 Conservatives. Further, the majorities obtained by several candidates were small and a simple sum in arithmetic shows that a matter of 253 votes would have changed 8 constituencies from the Liberal to the Conservative side.

All of which is merely another proof that the men who invented our system of representative government made rather a poor job of it.

On second thought, it seems rather unfair to compare the action of the Blairmore Enterprise with that of Judas Iscariot—unfair to Judas. When the latter sold out his Master he at least remained true to those with whom he had bargained. But the Enterprise sells out its local merchants to the mail order house, and then double-crosses the latter. Were Judas alive today he would probably enter action against us for defamation of character.
